

This must be one of the best Indian restaurants I have been in. The building is awesome, service second to none and the food to die for.

We had the complimentary pickle tray with the popadums this made us chuckle, as when we got the bill, we found we had been charged a £1 each for them - the pickle tray is no good without popadums!! I had the scallops on pea puree and really just wished they would go on forever, they were perfect. Followed by a monkfish curry, which I can neither pronounce nor spell.

My husband who is not very adventurous when it comes to Indian food had a chicken tikka starter followed by chicken Hydrabadi both delicious. Our only disappointment was the peshwari nan, very very dry and tasteless. We will definitely be going back the next time we are in Harrogate.
